Kigali Car Free Day: Promoting an Active Lifestyle

13 SEPTEMBER 2026

On 13 September 2026, MedWell Club participated in Kigali's Car Free Day, joining other health and community movements, including the NCD Alliance, in promoting physical activity and healthier lifestyles.

The mass sport provided an opportunity for MedWell Club members to actively engage in a community-wide wellness activity while reinforcing the importance of physical activity in preventing non-communicable diseases and promoting overall wellbeing.

MedWell Club emphasized that physical wellness should not be an occasional commitment but rather an intentional part of everyday life.

Physical wellness should be intentional. Staying active, moving regularly, and taking care of our bodies are simple but meaningful steps toward a healthier lifestyle.

Moving alongside other health movements

At Car Free Day, MedWell Club joined other health and community movements in promoting physical activity and healthier lifestyles, among them the NCD Alliance.

Physical activity plays a part in preventing non-communicable diseases, which is why a community-wide mass sport was a natural setting for the conversation.

Reflection after the Mass Sport

REFLECTION SESSION AFTER THE MASS SPORT

Following the mass sport, MedWell Club members gathered for a reflection session. The discussion connected the day's physical activity with the broader vision of the MedWell Initiative and its different approaches to supporting wellness.

The reflection highlighted how wellness can be supported not only through physical activity but also through accessible health information, digital tools, continuous support, and meaningful health conversations.
